HERCULES POWDER TURNED DOWN

BOARD OF APPEALS TURNS DOWN HERCULES POWDER

The appeal of the Hercules Powder Company for the right to erect a warehouse off Concord Street has been turned down by the Board of Appeals. The Board decided against the permit without waiting for a ruling from the Town Counsel, on their rights to decide the issue.

BOARD OF APPEALS RULES AGAINST TURKEY RUNS

The appeal of Ernest Thibo of Lowell Street, for the right to erect a portion of roof over turkey runs on his property has been turned down by the Board of Appeals, with the proviso that he may continue with his present structures until the end of this season, after which they may not be used.

The appeal was decided last Thursday evening, after there had been a second session of the appeal. Ernest B Rice Sr., Building Inspector, told the Appeal Board that no permit had been issued for the construction of roofs over the turkey runs, and that they were consequently illegal buildings. A turkey run without a roof was legal, but being roofed made it an illegal structure, unless a building permit had been issued, Rice said.

The decision has no jurisdiction over the present chicken house on the property, which was in use before the present Zoning Laws were voted and is thus a 'non-conforming' use, Rice told the Board.

COMMUNICATIONS IS THE QUESTION

NOT AN IMPASSIONED ORATOR, BUT MERELY A CIVIL DEFENSE DIRECTOR EXPLAINING WHAT IS ABOUT TO HAPPEN, LAST SATURDAY ON WILMINGTON COMMON. WILMINGTON'S CIVIL DEFENSE DIRECTOR RENE LARIVEE IS EXPLAINING THE COMMUNICATIONS SET UP TO COLONEL VIRGIL B SHAW OF NATICK, ADJUTANT OF STATE CIVIL DEFENSE. THE COWBOY HAT IS WORN BY FRED CORUM, HEAD OF THE MOUNTED COURIER UNIT OF WILMINGTON CIVIL DEFENSE, AND THE MAN IN THE WHITE SHIRT IS TED DALY OF LAKE STREET, HEAD OF THE RADIO COMMUNICATIONS UNIT. COLONEL SHAW WAS OUT HERE TO INSPECT THE TOWN'S NEW RADIC INSPECTION UNIT, WHICH WAS DEMONSTRATED FOR THE FIRST TIME LAST SATURDAY.

All boys and girls who plan to take part in high school major sports must satisfactorily pass a physical exam.

The first practice for the Football team will be Wednesday evening at 5:30 pm., at which time the candidates will meet their new coach, Fred Bellissimo, Notre Dame graduate. Bellissimo will be assisted by three coaches Messrs Keady, Ritchie and Beaton.

Acting Co-Captains are Sammy Cavallaro and Billy Rosa.

TREE DEPARTMENT WARS ON ENCEPHALITIS

The Town of Wilmington Tree Department started its second year of spraying against encephalitis bearing mosquitoes, on Monday morning. Using a 6% DDT solution, the department will spray every accessible area in Wilmington, in an effort to kill mosquitoes before the disease should strike this area.

Spraying in areas where there is a lot of traffic is being done during the early morning hours. The employees of the department reported to work at 1 am yesterday (Wednesday) in order to spray along Main St. Spraying in home neighborhoods is done during regular working hours.

The encephalitis germ, cause of 'sleeping sickness', fatal to animals as well as to human beings, can also be carried by birds. It is a highly communicable disease. Areas south of Boston, such as Raynham and the Cape Canal area are experiencing their second summer with the disease, and there have been two deaths reported so far.

PROPOSE ANDOVER EXIT FOR ROUTE 28 TO SERVICE INDUSTRIAL ZONES

Pointing out that the Industrial land of Wilmington lying west of the Boston & Maine Railroad, Portland Branch, is in a cul-de-sac, between the railroad and the Shawsheen River, with no proper access, Dana Perkins, former member of the Tewksbury Planning Board has proposed to the Wilmington and Tewksbury Planning Boards that they join with Andover in having an additional exit for Route 28 at a point about 1 1/2 miles beyond the (North) Wilmington Junction.

About 1600 Acres of land which has been zoned industrially by the three towns is involved, all of which is in contiguous lots.

Perkins, who is a Civil Engineer, pointed out to the Wilmington Planning Board on August 21st that a very large acreage of the Wilmington Industrial Zone in North Wilmington will be without access, after Route 28 is completed, unless there is an exit in Andover, just north of the

WILMINGTON SCHOOLS

Wilmington is one of the few communities in this Commonwealth which is - for the present at least - caught up on its school building program. Last year we actually had one empty class room, a circumstance that is nearly unique in Massachusetts. With the problem of overcrowding at least not weighing as heavily on our minds as on the minds of our neighbors, we can put a greater part of our attention on the improvement of standards in our schools.

Wilmington now has the prospect of becoming known as a research center. We should look forward to becoming equally well known as the town which has in its public schools a training program par-excellence for potential research scientists. At present we have an excellent record of placement of graduates in business and industry. Perhaps we can look forward to an increasing number of our graduates going to such world famous places as Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

It is a problem to which we must face up.

SEWERS AND COSTS

Someday, sooner or later, a day will arrive when Wilmington will find itself a part of the North Metropolitan Sewer District. Authorization to join the district has been voted some past by the Massachusetts Legislature, and Wilmington is in the position of being able to join any time she cares to knock on the door.

But to knock on that door will cost money, and everybody knows it. The cost of sewers in Wilmington would run into the millions before completed. The cost of joining the Metropolitan District, which would be a separate and distinct cost, would also amount to a sum in the millions. Because of these, and other factors we can wait a few years before we really start to worry about the details.

Before we even get to that stage, the chances are that the legislature will revise the present system. Wilmington is not the only town which has "rights" to join the Metropolitan system, indeed many towns are much further along towards such a goal, and it is the realization of possible costs that may bring about a revision by the Legislature.

Being considered at this time is a plan to connect the Town of Randolph to the Metropolitan District. Engineers estimates place the cost of connecting at about $3,347,000.

Under the present system the cost of making this connection would be borne largely by towns and cities within the sewerage district.
Randolph would pay only $22,090.

The City of Boston would pay $822,023. Newton would pay $479,290. Brookline would pay $434, 440. Quincy $378,888.

Naturally this is a prospect that isn't exactly appealing to Boston, Newton, Brookline and Quincy. When the legislature reconvenes on Sept. 25th it is expected that there will be a move for reconsideration of the request.

It isn't only the move for reconsideration that is in the air. There is a demand for a thorough study of the entire method of admitting towns and cities into the District. If such a study were made, and if it were followed by legislation which would be recommended by the study the chances are that the incoming towns and cities would have to bear a much larger burden - and in that class would be Wilmington say in 1958 or 1960.

As things now stand, the various towns and cities that are affected by any construction bear the costs of that construction according to its 1945 valuation. Randolph in that year had a valuation of less than $8.5 millions. Now it will pay less than 1% of the bill. To Boston Quincy, Brookline et als, that hurts.

Boston in particular is hurt by this practice,
for all the sewers, North or South, lead through that city, and she has to bear a large part of the cost of any extensions, to any new town or city. It is no wonder that the Hub city is expected to lead this fight.

All of which means that our sewer, if and when we get it, might cost more than the figures we have been given recently.

Weather

Two inches below normal needs. That's our record of rainfall since the first of June. The half inch of rain we had in the past week was welcome, but it wasn't enough.

Our August weather is running along in its usual tempo, some hot and sultry weather, some a little cool, and some thunderstorms. Nothing remarkable.

Long May It Wave

The new Middlesex County Bank has a new flagpole, quite an imposing piece in its own way.
The people in the bank haven't said anything, but there is a certain glow of pride in their air, because the American flag is floating over their heads all day long.
And night, too.

Where is Nichols Street?

A friend of ours reports that he got to wondering if the cars in the parking lot were all property of Wilmington owners. The beach and parking lot are supposed to be for the exclusive use of Wilmington residents.

Our friend went in to the parking lot, one day last week and asked the drivers of the various cars "Where is Nichols Street?"

It wasn't until he got to the fifth car that he could get an answer.

Committee, not to mention the town itself, have had a little discussion this year, concerning pay for teachers - a question that has yet to be fully resolved to everyone's satisfaction.

Because of this we are reprinting a letter which appeared in the Boston Herald Monday, written by the President of the High School Teachers Association of Boston. Without agreeing or disagreeing we may say that the letter is just as applicable to Wilmington as it is to Boston.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Apart from the fact that the single salary schedule has caused a critical shortage of qualified teachers in the public high schools of the city of Boston, there are other reasons, equally important, why the Boston School Committee should immediately abolish this method of paying its teachers.

In practice, single salary has proven itself un-American. In theory, it always has been and it always will be, pure and unadulterated Socialism.

It is un-American because the same salary for all teachers regardless of the level of instruction, places a premium on mediocrity. It offers no reward for research and specialization, thereby stifling initiative, progress and intellectual growth. In the matter of employing teachers, it seeks to abrogate a fundamental principle of American business—the economic law of supply and demand.

The single salary policy operates on the fundamental Marxian principle, "from each according to his ability, to each according to his needs." It seeks to develop a classless society of teachers, a replica of the classless society of workers that is the ultimate goal of every Socialist state.

The present School Committee is in no way connected with the adoption of single salary in the Boston schools. They will be voting on it for the first time later this month. It is impossible to believe that any member of this committee would ever place his name and his seal of approval on a Socialist method of paying school teachers in preference to the American way, based on freedom of enterprise and the economic law of supply and demand. The problem of teachers' salaries is an American problem that has an American answer.

EDWIN F. BUTTERS, Pres.
High School Teachers of Boston

Tewksbury line. As projected, the new Route 28 will go through a small corner of land in the Tewksbury zone, and then into the Andover Zone.

Perkins proposes that an exit be made where Route 28 will cross the Lowell Junction Road in Andover, a road which is a continuation of South Street in Tewksbury. This street has recently been laid out by the County Engineers as a 50 foot secondary highway. Perkins feels that to neglect having an exit at this point will defeat the proposed use of the entire industrial area.

The Wilmington Planning Board took the proposal under advisement, stating that they would be happy to discuss the proposal with the Andover and Andover and Tewksbury Board.

Elliot Castillo, pastor of the Wilmington Baptist Extension Church, will preach this Sunday evening a message entitled 'Don't Be a Grasshopper.' At these Bible Club meetings seven highschoolers have recently accepted Christ as their Saviour.

On Wednesday mornings the Crusader Club meets at the Improvement Hall under the direction of Mrs Helen Moore. The Crusader Club is an extension of the Vacation Bible School which proved to be very popular with the younger children. The Crusaders meet every Wednesday from 10 to 11:30 am and is for children ages 4 through 14.

Cottage prayer meetings are held every Thursday evening at 9 and have been attended by both young people and adults. The prayer meeting this week will be held at the home of Mr and Mrs Judson Arbo, Nickerson Avenue. All are cordially invited to attend.

UHLAN BAR BINGEN, OWNED BY MISS MARY DILLAWAY OF 337 SALEM STREET, IS ORDINARILY A PLACID AND EASYGOING BELGIAN SHEEPDOG. WHEN HE IS PUT THROUGH HIS PACES IN THE OBEDIENCE RING OVER JUMPS SUCH AS THIS ONE, HOWEVER, HIS TEMPERAMENT CHANGES TO ONE OF AGGRESSION AND DETERMINATION. THIS ATTITUDE PAID OFF FOR BOTH DOG AND OWNER IN THE RECENT DOG SHOW AT HAMILTON.

Champion Belgian Sheepdog Uhlan Bar Binger CDX, owned by Miss Mary Dillaway of 337 Salem St., achieved the highest score among other dogs of the same breed in both obedience and utility competition at the North Shore Kennel Club dog show at Hamilton last Saturday. Another of Miss Dillaway's dogs, Champion Jacobin Di-Beltarod, CD, won the best-of-breed in show competition.

The show last Saturday was a special one in that it had many more Belgian sheepdogs entered than usual. Compared to other breeds, the dog is relatively rare in this country, but enough of them came to the Hamilton show (one all the way from Ohio) to make the competition extremely difficult. There were ten champions present.

The amount of work that Miss Dillaway has spent on Belgian Sheepdogs was made evident by one startling fact. All of the Sheepdogs at the show, except for the dog from Ohio, were at one time raised in Miss Dillaway's kennels.

If any other proof is needed of Miss Dillaway's success, the dog pictured above is living proof. Uhlan Bar Bingen is her best dog, and is considered by well-informed dog enthusiasts to be one of the three best Belgian Sheepdogs in the country. He has won 27 best-of-breed prizes and 2 obedience degrees.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

University of Scouting, The University of Scouting, held by the Greater Lowell Council, the annual training courses for all Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Explorer Leaders, including Den Mothers, Assistant Leaders and Committeemen will begin this year during the latter half of September. The Cub Scout course will be six evenings, Boy Scout seven and Explorer five, with each class from 8 to 10 pm. A detailed bulletin will be sent soon to Unit Leaders, Chairmen, Assistants, and Den Mothers. The courses may be attended by anyone interested in Scouting.

New Registration Procedure

All certificates and additional registrations will now be typed at the National Office. All Certificate Reports will be mailed from the Lowell Council to the National Office each Monday morning and will include Additional Enrollments received by the Lowell Council by the previous Thursday evening.

Jamboree 1957

Lowell Council's quota is twenty-five boys to be assigned from the thirty-eight units, with procedure for selecting the twenty-five to be determined by the Jamboree Committee at an early meeting. Applications may be filled between October 1 and the deadline of January 15. Every Troop should submit at least one candidate. Each Council will submit applications for twenty percent over its quota so that non-acceptance of other Councils may be divided among these twenty percent.

Camp Wah-tut-ca

Camp Wah-tut-ca completed the most successful season since the early forties, with the average weekly enrollment over seventy-five. In Camp with their own leaders were Troop 58, Silver Lake Betterment Association, Floyd Thomas, Scoutmaster, and Troop 57, West Wilmington, Walter Rogers, Scoutmaster. Also, a fine delegation was present from Troop 56, Congregational Church, Olin London, Scoutmaster.

MINAS POLOIAN

Funeral services were held Thursday, August 16, at the McMahon Funeral Home, with the Rev Richard E Harding officiating, for Minas Poloian of Washington Ave. Committal services were held in Wildwood Cemetery, and burial was in the family lot.

Mr Poloian, age 67, a retired employee of Stop and Shop, died at Winchester Hospital Monday, August 13.

Well known locally, he had lived in Wilmington for the past eight years. He leaves his wife, Mrs Ethel May Poloian, two sons, X John and James, both of Wilmington, two daughters, Mrs Daniel White of Wilmington, and Mrs Edward Dargan of North Reading, and twelve grandchildren.

PLAYGROUNDS FINISH SEASON

The three playgrounds at the High School, Silver Lake and the Wildwood School ended Friday, August 17.

At the High School Playground a water spray was the highlight of the last day. Parents attended to see some of their children's craft work on display, as well as to enviously watch their children escaping the heat under the water sprinkler.

Parents were also invited to the Wildwood School on the 17th for a picnic day. There they saw, among other accomplishments, a large circus mural in which every child had a hand.

The Silver Lake Playground finished a busy season along with the other two playgrounds and since there has been no news in this paper concerning the activities there, an account of what went on throughout the summer will now be given.

Two hundred and forty-six children between the ages of 5 and 12 registered. An unfortunate incident occurred at the beginning of the year when vandals broke into the playground and destroyed many of the small games, but children and instructors gallantly contributed their own games, and the situation was taken in hand.

To help out even further, Dorothy Lafionatis, director of Arts and Crafts, came one day a week and taught the children how to make interesting items out of leather, raffia, metal and gimp. Other pastimes for the youngsters were games and sports, such as checkers, horseshoes, pick-up sticks, foot races and swimming. Every Thursday, with two exceptions, was cook-out day and on Fridays the children had a 'Kookies and Kool-Aid' party.

The physical facilities at the Lake Playground at present consist of a slide, a large bare field, some sports equipment and one small room for storage. Miss Irene Sharp, director of the Playground, feels that there is a lack of equipment, but feels also that there is certainly no lack of enjoyment on the part of the youngsters to go along with it.

is another of our amateur farmers. John loves tomatoes, and has lovingly toiled over his plants all summer. Then John went on a vacation.

He returned Sunday. His plants were a riot of red - not however from those succulent fruit, but because his neighbors had very thoughtfully tied a red balloon to each and every tomato plant.

Auto School

About a month or two ago Hyman Jacobs asked us if we thought there would be any business for an Auto Driving School in Wilmington. We had to give him a frank answer - we just couldn't guess. Maybe there was, and maybe there wasn't. Hyman drew a deep breath and decided to take a chance. He launched himself into the business, locally.

Since then we have been watching, in an off hand way. We are glad to be able to report that Hyman seems to be more and more busy. It now seems that nearly every time we are driving we encounter the Wilmington Driving School car, with a pupil at the wheel.

Redi-Mix is Rolling

We have noticed the new truck of the Redi-Mix Cement Company going around town, making deliveries. As most of our readers realize, the Board of Appeals had granted this company the right to unload cement at the North Wilmington railroad siding, but imposed further restrictions (enforceable with a $5000 bond) on speed limits, 15 miles an hour and things like that.

Redi-Mix is unloading their cement elsewhere, and the $5000 bond is not in jeopardy (This isn't to suggest, by any means, that the truck is speeding just because there is no bond on it).

Don't Feel Too Bad

Wilmington Little Leaguers shouldn't feel too bad about losing that game to Winchester -- the game that knocked our boys out of the World Series race. Winchester, as everyone knows, defeated all comers, and is now in Williamsport, Pennsylvania at the Championship games.

TV Shows

Wilmington's share of TV shows has been pretty good, in the past few days. First, a week ago Sunday we were able to watch the ladies of the Little League mothers, and now this week it is the 4-H Mounties.

Rex Trailer, who came to the 4-H show, appeared on the 11 pm program Monday evening, over WDEZ, escorted by members of the Mounties. He is to be shown again, we understand, on Saturday morning, sometime between 7:45 am and 10 am.

And, just for the record - it was Rex's horse, but it wasn't his saddle and equipment. Mark Babbitt, from Hathaway Acres, loaned Rex the equipment that he used, last Saturday on Wilmington Common.

THE SPECULATIVE ASTRONOMER OF WILMINGTON

BILL SAVARY'S PRINT SHOP

WHERE WILLARD SAVARY WHILE AWAY HIS TIME OCCASIONALLY, PRINTING EXACTLY WHAT HE WANTS TO PRINT, AND WHEN HE WANTS TO PRINT IT. (THE MAN WITH THE 'STICK' IS HIS SON GEORGE, WHO ALSO FOOLS AROUND WITH PRINTING ON OCCASION)

This is a story about Willard B Savary, a man of 67 summers, who calls Wilmington his home, but wanders everywhere from Nova Scotia to parts unknown. Mr Savary is a retired Mechanical Engineer, with a speculative and philosophical bent. He worked for 47 years for the Worthington Corporation in Rutherford, New Jersey, and then he retired two years ago to a life of full activity, but in his own sweet time.

He has two homes, one in Wilmington and the other in Orange, New Jersey, but he is rarely to be seen in either, for he just loves to fly here and there. One week may be in Maine, the next in Chicago. He goes by air, whenever possible but always without baggage, for he mails his baggage first to the place he is going.

At his home in Wilmington, where he lives with his son George, he has in the cellar a complete if small printing shop, with which he loves to 'fool around'. He prints there all manner of cards and booklets, for his own amusement. By no sense of the word is it to be considered a commercial shop - it is strictly amateur, but the quality of the work performed is enough to make any professional printer envious.

Before Willard retired he was a member of the Amateur Astronomical Association of Rutherford, New Jersey, (and served for a while as president). It is probably from this association that he has taken the name of the 'Speculative' Astronomer by which he calls himself in a booklet that he publishes from time to time - a booklet called the Polystich.

The Polystich is an Editor's Dream. Not only does nothing go into it without the personal approval of the Editor and Publisher, but it is a case of not giving a hoot what anyone else thinks about it. No subscriptions to worry about - no anxious parents to be pleased with an account of Johnny's doings in school or on the field of sports - just merely what the publisher wants to publish and that's all.

For a man of his catholic tastes, this little rule can cover a lot of territory. Mr Savary will talk about just what he wants to talk about - and nothing else. Frequently the Polystich will have an article about Astronomy, sometimes something about Philosophy or Religion, but all with the personal (and almost quaint) touch of Willard B Savary.

It is not his printing that sets Willard B Savary apart from his fellow man - it is his attitude towards the pursuit of life and happiness in general that makes him one of the most unique residents of this town. Deeply read, he is a chess player, and an extraordinary conversationalist who can have friends wherever he goes - if he wants them.

GENERAL MEETING TO MAP PLANS FOR CHURCH AUCTION MEETS

A general committee meeting to lay out the final plans for the coming Auction on the Green of the Wilmington Methodist Church met on Monday evening, August 20. Fred Seddon, general chairman called the meeting to line up the parish so that each family could be contacted for items to be used at the church auction.

All of the money received will be given to the church building fund and will be matched dollar for dollar by the New England Conference of the Methodist Church. The auction will be held on the lawn of the Methodist Church, Saturday, September 8 beginning at 11 am and continuing through 3 pm. Captain Larz Neilson will be the auctioneer.

RED SOX PLAYERS TO ATTEND JIMMY FUND DAY CANVASSING

A siren will blow at 7:00 pm this Sunday, to signify the start of the Jimmy Fund Day house-to-house canvassing, which will last until 9:00 pm.

Villanova Hall will be the base of operations, and several Red Sox ball players, whose identities cannot at this time be revealed, are going to be present.

Over 200 boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 12 will participate in the canvassing, and between them all, they will cover every house in Wilmington. They will be supervised by the District Chairmen, who will lead the boys to their areas. In order to be perfectly organized, a meeting of the district chairmen is scheduled at George's Restaurant, at 7:30 pm on Thursday, August 16.

Throughout the Jimmy Fund program, George Spanos, Wilmington Chairman has been gratified by the amount of work done by children. Besides the work to be done in the house-to-house canvassing this Sunday, raffle tickets have been sold by youngsters for the dance at Villanova Hall, and there was even a miniature circus put on by Laurie McCabe, Elaine LaRivee, Ellen Rice, and Marcia Stevens. The circus included a pony ride, a 'tiger', a 'panther', a fat lady, a strong man, and Hawaiian dancers.

Although the amount of money taken in by the circus was $2.79, George, as well as many others, admired the enthusiasm and the work (three days of it) which the children devoted to the Jimmy Fund. George states that this enthusiasm could well be passed on to others, for the Jimmy Fund has fallen behind its quota this
